I am an enthusiastic and skilled professional with experience in the hospitality and market research industry, including roles in customer service and management. Recently, I have developed a keen interest in programming and have been actively learning Python. Through my studies I have gained proficiency in using Python for web and backend development. Also, I have reached a basic proficiency level in JavaScript, HTML, and CSS. I am excited to apply my skills to new challenges in the technology industry. I expect to work in a dynamic and rapidly evolving field with opportunities for growth and advancement as I continue to develop my skills and knowledge.

MY PROJECTS

- Cook-room kitchen is a simple management system for your cafe's or restaurant's cooks. It's a useful tool for assigning cooks to certain dishes. If needed, add new dishes or dish categories to the menu.
- DRF Cinema API is a Django REST framework API for a cinema app. It provides endpoints for managing movies, cinema halls, orders and tickets.
