

OLEKSANDR FEDIRKO

Trainee Front-End Developer

SUMMARY

My name is Oleksandr. Some time ago, I decided to find a new area where I could realize my potential and my choice fell on front-end development. I find this field very exciting because I want to create something interesting and useful for others.

I'm highly motivated, always strive to learn new things and develop my professional skills.

I realize that if I had more experience and technical education, then my candidacy would not raise doubts, but I have a special passion for studying what interests. Previous work experience developed my resistance to stress, taught me to devote a lot of time to my responsibilities.
